WHEN: Thursday, August 15 from 9:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m.

WHERE: Commerce Building at the Fresno Fairgrounds, 1121 S. Chance Ave., Fresno, CA 93702.

WHY: Each year The Big Fresno Fair hires roughly 500 – 800 people to work at the annual event, not including the local employees hired directly by our individual food vendors, carnival provider and Livestock department. This year, the Fair is looking to fill nearly 500 positions for the 2013 Big Fresno Fair directly from people attending the Job Fair.

“We are looking for top-notch workers who believe in keeping The Big Fresno Fair a place where families can expect superior customer service,” said John C. Alkire, CEO of The Big Fresno Fair. “Our goal with the Job Fair is to create a greater level of awareness among Central Valley residents that these job opportunities exist at The Big Fresno Fair. The fact that we’re hiring hundreds of hard working local residents creates a big opportunity for those looking for work.”

Fair Management decided to hold its first Job Fair in 2011. With nearly 1,000 positions available that year, more than 7,000 people showed up ready to meet with Department Supervisors and obtain an opportunity to work at The Big Fresno Fair. The annual Job Fair in 2012 drew a big crowd of applicants and Fair Management anticipates another big turnout for an opportunity to work at the 2013 Big Fresno Fair, which runs October 2 – 14.

Founded in 1884, The Big Fresno Fair is the fifth largest fair in the State of California and is an integral part of the community through a 130-year long tradition and substantial economic impact. More than 550,000 people visit The Big Fresno Fair each year making it the largest annual event in the Central Valley.
